

“Creating trial opportunities for women should not be an afterthought” – Co-Managing Partner Kalpana Srinivasan in Law360

10.20.2020 | 10 | 21NEWS

Co-Managing partner Kalpana Srinivasan pens a guest column for Law360's Glass Ceiling Series on preparing next generation of female trial lawyers. Kalpana highlights the importance of integrating women into the trial team from the start, of providing meaningful opportunities for visibility and of encouraging women to embrace their own courtroom styles.

She offers her advice to other firms based on her own experiences and the successes of the firm in attracting and developing female trial lawyers.

You can read Srinivasan's full article here.