SUSMAN GODFREY

Nine partners hailing from three Susman Godfrey offices have been recognized in the 2023 IAM Patent 1000, which is regarded as “the definitive ‘go-to’ resource for those seeking to identify world-class, private practice patent expertise.” In particular, the following lawyers were identified and ranked as leaders in the area:

- From Texas: Joe Grinstein, Justin Nelson, Max Tribble, and Lexie White
- From California: Kalpana Srinivasan
- From Washington: Matt Berry, Parker Folse, Andres Healy, and Genevieve Vose Wallace.

In addition to this individual recognition, IAM recognized the firm’s Texas, California, and Washington offices for their winning work in patent litigation—describing the firm as “[o]ne of the top patent litigation outfits in the entire country,” with an “imposing line-up of trial lawyers who are well adapted to go the distance in the highest-exposure cases.” IAM also praises the firm’s “deep bench of lawyers who are extremely well versed in terms of trial strategy, highly adept at presenting to judges and juries, and happy to work under innovative and flexible fee structures.”

From the IAM press release:

“Now in its 12th year, the IAM Patent 1000 is commonly regarded as the definitive ‘go-to’ resource for those seeking to identify world-class, private practice patent expertise, as well as leading expert witnesses in the US, and includes 50 country-specific chapters analyzing their local patent professional services markets.

An extensive research process is performed over five months, with a team of full-time analysts conducting 1,800 interviews with industry specialists around the world and resulting in the definitive directory exclusively dedicated to identifying the world’s leading patent service providers. Only those identified by market sources for their exceptional skillsets and profound insights into patent matters feature in the IAM Patent 1000.”
