Houston and New York Partner Barry Barnett has written an article for Law360's Expert Analysis series called, "Antitrust Enforcers Must Have More Funding," where he explains why Congress should appropriate at least $1 billion a year to the DOJ's Antitrust Division and Federal Trade Commission. Barnett has litigated and tried high-stakes antitrust cases for over 35 years and counts industry leaders such as KKR, Alaska Airlines, Hinduja Global, and Vistra among his clients.
