A Prosecutor-Turned-Judge's Thoughts on Civil Trials

After three years of litigating complex cases, seven year prosecuting cases as an AUSA, and two years serving as district judge, current Fifth Circuit Judge, Gregg Costa, has a unique and invaluable perspective on trials – what works and what doesn't.

Hear the differences between civil and criminal litigators' approaches and learn what is effective with judges and juries and what is not.

Don't miss this incredible opportunity to learn from someone who has seen it all.
