

2 Easy Ways To Set Yourself Up For Success in 2021

By Trey Peacock, Winning Cases Based On Science & Data For Over 25 Years
Originally published on LinkedIn.com

As we all adapted to remote working in 2020, I hope you found my Tech Notes articles useful. Since you've likely received even more emails than usual over the past year, I wanted to bring a few articles to the top of your inbox. Readers seemed to most enjoy these Tech Notes, which provide quick and easy ways to protect your data and work smarter in our digital world.

If you haven't already, I hope you'll consider implementing these tips to set yourself up for success in the year ahead.

4 Rules to Protect Your Passwords & Tech Security

If you are looking for ways to protect your passwords and tech security, check out this article which offers several rules and tips to help readers safeguard their data and devices using easily understood and implemented steps.

LEARN MORE

Dashlane Password Manager (Part I)

As technology proliferates into everyday life, the number of passwords we must create, remember, store, and access accelerates dramatically. The solution to this all-too-common problem? A password manager. Learn more about Dashlane, the password manager I find to be the most useful, in this article.using easily understood and implemented steps.

LEARN MORE

Dashlane Password Manager (Part II)

As I outlined in Part I of my Dashlane article, the use of password manager software is more important than ever during this period of remote working. In Part II of the article, I outline how the benefits of using a password manager make adopting a new security ecosystem worth the effort.

LEARN MORE