

Was Google Evil?

Blockbuster Trial Led by Bois & Carmody

LAWDRAGON By Sam Arman | August 16, 2025 | News & Features

“Hey Google, why are two great trial lawyers suing Google?”

Google, AI Overview: “Well-known trial lawyers are suing Google for various reasons, including antitrust violations and various deceptive practices, primarily in the digital advertising space.”

OK, points to Google for transparency.

The case rested on Anibal Rodriguez and 98 million other Google users who thought...

Click to read full story

REUTERS September 4, 2025

Google trial ends with $425 million verdict after Cooley inherits privacy case

A law firm shakeup in California earlier this year put Cooley in the driver's seat defending Google in a sprawling consumer class action that culminated in a $425 million verdict on Wednesday.

A Willkie Farr team led by ...

Click to read full story

THE AMERICAN LAWYER

By Ross Todd | September 12, 2025

Litigators of the Week:

Our Litigators of the Week are David Bois of Bois Schiller Flexner, Bill Carmody of Susman Godfrey and John Yanchunis of Morgan & Morgan, who represented two classes totalling roughly 98 million Google users who claim Google collected data from third-party apps.

“...pleased that the jury listened to the evidence and saw how Google enriched itself by collecting information without its users’ consent.”

Reuters from Bill Carmody